

REFLEX rack protections offer a complete range of impact-resistant solutions for the protection of industrial racks.

Our safety systems are designed and manufactured in Italy based on exclusive MPM patents and certified by TÜV SÜD, in compliance with EN 15512. They provide maximum impact resistance, ease of installation and ease of cleaning.

The rack upright protections have an innovative internal structure, the only one with three shock absorbers in anti-shock material that effectively absorb frontal and lateral impacts with moving vehicles.

The REFLEX material developed by MPM research is specifically designed to ensure high visibility in the working environment and high resistance to various types of impact.

Rack protections are easy to install and can be integrated into complex protection systems thanks to the support of the staff of the MPM technical department, who are ready to assist you in the various stages of your selection.

REFLEX

REFLEX is a technopolymer made from a unique compound developed in our laboratory by a team of experts with 30 à 35 years of experience in the field of plastics. Thanks to its special molecular density, REFLEX distributes energy along the entire length of the protection that flexes and then returns to its original shape. The excellent properties of the material allow it to absorb the energy of the impact, thus minimising the costs of maintenance, repair and replacement. Thanks to its technical specifications, REFLEX guarantees the protection of the floor, the materials and, above all, the safety of pedestrian and operators driving the vehicles.
